1. Basic Eligibility

- The framework covers marriages performed under different personal laws, customs, usages and religious practices.
- A marriage registration certificate is an important official record evidencing registration of the marriage.
- Section 23 states that non-registration by itself does not invalidate a marriage; however, registration is a statutory requirement and is important for official records and proof.

- Upload clear, readable copies of documents.
- Monitor the registered contact channel for additional document requests or further instructions.

13. Processing Time

- There is no single fixed processing time that can be guaranteed for every marriage-registration application.
- Timeline can depend on the type of marriage, completeness of documents, verification requirements, statutory notice requirements, Registrar / Marriage Officer procedure, government processing and objections or additional requirements.
- Special Marriage Act cases can involve a statutory notice period and therefore may take longer than some other registration routes.
- The 90-day memorandum requirement under Tamil Nadu law is a statutory submission period; it should not be confused with the time required by the authority to complete processing.

14. Fees and Charges

- Government registration fees, additional fees, late-submission fees and service charges may be different components.
- Fees depend on the applicable Act, Rules, prescribed forms and current government notifications.
- The service/payment amount shown in your portal is not necessarily the same as the statutory government fee payable to the Registration Authority.
- Applicants should verify the current official fee schedule and the concerned Registrar office requirements at the time of application.

15. Jurisdiction — Which Registrar?

- The competent registration office depends on the marriage place and the applicable jurisdictional rules.
- Tamil Nadu's framework has been amended to include circumstances involving the permanent residence of either or both parties.
- The correct Registrar should be determined based on the individual facts and the current jurisdictional rules.

16. Name / Address / Document Mismatch

- Bride and groom names, dates of birth and addresses should be entered consistently with the supporting documents.
- If there is a mismatch, the authority may request additional proof, clarification or corrective documentation.
- False information and forged documents must never be submitted.
- Where applicable, the authority may request an affidavit, correction document or additional proof.

17. Registration After the Marriage Has Already Taken Place

---

- A marriage that has already been solemnized may be capable of registration depending on the applicable law and registration route.
- Section 8 of the Hindu Marriage Act and the Tamil Nadu registration framework contain provisions dealing with registration.
- The exact procedure depends on the marriage type, date, place, documents and jurisdiction.

18. Inter-Religion Marriage

- The legal route used for an inter-religion marriage depends on how the parties choose to solemnize and register the marriage.
- A civil marriage route may involve the Special Marriage Act.
- If the marriage has already been solemnized under a personal-law ceremony, a different registration route may apply.
- Therefore, 'inter-religion' alone does not determine one universal registration procedure.
